Future-Proofing Records Management: Safeguarding ECM in the Age of AI

As AI continues to reshape how organizations manage information, records managers face new challenges in protecting sensitive content and ensuring long-term compliance. This session, designed specifically for records management professionals, will explore strategies to secure enterprise content management (ECM) systems against AI-driven risks.

Attendees will gain practical insights into balancing innovation with regulatory requirements, mitigating AI-related vulnerabilities, and ensuring the integrity of records in an evolving digital landscape.

Key Topics:

- ◆ Protecting Records from AI-Driven Risks – Understand how AI impacts records management, including potential security threats and mitigation strategies.
- ◆ Best Practices for AI Integration in ECM – Learn how to incorporate AI-powered tools into ECM workflows without compromising security or compliance.
- ◆ Proactive Strategies for Long-Term Records Security – Explore approaches to maintain accessibility, integrity, and compliance as technology advances.

Alexis Blue is passionate about guiding clients through their digital transformation journeys, helping them achieve success with innovative technology solutions. Since joining MCCi in 2005, she has held various roles, most recently serving as an Enterprise Account Executive, where she partners with local government and state agencies to drive automation initiatives. With two decades of experience in the Public Sector, Alexis has developed a deep understanding of government operations and the challenges agencies face. She finds fulfillment in seeing how technology enhances efficiency and the overall user experience, both internally and externally, and is dedicated to advocating for her clients to ensure their goals are met.

A dynamic public speaker and thought leader, Alexis frequently collaborates with clients on presentations covering digital transformation, process automation, and more. She holds a Bachelor's Degree in Business Management and International Business from Florida State University. Outside of work, she stays busy with her two boys and enjoys quality family time and outdoor adventures.
